RE: Art From Our Parks Grant

BACKGROUND

This art filled event at Deerfield Nature Park is now in its 8th year. Art From Our Parks began when ArtReach volunteer and member, Rick Steven and I got together in 2007 to plan a fall art and nature event out at Deerfield Park. Rick is an avid art supporter who wanted to share his love of the outdoors with others in a creative setting. I had wanted to have a day in the park event with a nature hike and wild game soup, so the two ideas merged as one!

The event has since been filled with various arts and crafts opportunities at the Creation Stations and many local artists have performed on the Fussman Shelter "stage". We have received an art grant the last 3 years from The Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs to support event entertainment and art supplies. The County Parks and Recreation Commission has received funding support the last three years from the MCACA ($1,200, $1,000, and $900 respectively). A requirement for this grant (new this year) is that the governing body of the group applying, approve of the application. Our request this year is for $2,000 from the MCACA.

ALTERNATIVES

Not apply for the grant

FINANCIAL IMPACT

Expenditures for the event are budgeted in the parks budget, including park staff hours that are used as a match.

Proposal Narrative 7/14 Draft

1. Artistic Merit

The annual Art From Our Parks event, presented through the Isabella County Parks and Recreation Commission has only grown in scope and popularity since the first event was held in 2008. AFOP brings community members and local artists together in the inspiring surroundings of Deerfield Park – a ~600 acre nature park – for a day of diverse art projects and entertainment. Until 2013, the artists had been local volunteers, but support through the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs Minigrant allowed AFOP to pay a prominent local artist for the 2014 and 2015 events. This local artist was a valuable asset for the events, interacting with participants by offering to draw caricatures for them at no cost. AFOP would like to invite more local artist to exhibit their talent. Continuing to provide the quality and commitment of paid artists as a feature of Art From Our Parks will help the event grow and allow it to expand the variety of art being demonstrated. The support of the MCACA has also allowed AFOP to expand what is offered at the event's Creation Stations which provide participants with a variety of crafts and art supplies they use to create their own take-home art under the guidance of event staff and artists.

2. Community Impact

Art From Our Parks has been supported since its inception by Isabella County Parks, ArtReach of Mid Michigan and the Chippewa Watershed Conservancy. The CWC and ArtReach have donated time and art supplies to the event, as well as helping to advertise and draw participants from the community who enjoy art and nature. In the past, local businesses have donated supplies, food, or other needed items as a show of their support for this event. Increasing the scope of the event would allow more sponsorship or support opportunities for area organizations. It has become a well known event and a great chance for anyone in the community to enjoy a fall day outside and express themselves through art. In addition, the event has provided a venue for local artists to showcase their abilities in many different mediums including painting, fiber art, dance, poetry, and music. This is especially valuable for student artists or artist beginning to embark on their professional career. Additional funding allows this to continue to be an event that is free to participants allowing further outreach to the community, expanding the number of area youth we can inspire to take interest in the arts and the environment.

3. Implementation

Art From Our Parks 2015 will take place on September 24th from noon to 4 pm at Deerfield Nature Park Fussman Pavilion. The Creation Stations will be open for the duration of the event, and there will be performances by local musicians, singers, and dancers from noon to 4pm. Promotion of the event takes place mainly online, via radio, newspapers, and through printed flyers placed in local businesses. Online postings include the County Parks Facebook page (www.facebook.com/isabellacountyparksandrecreation), the County Parks webpage (www.isabellacounty.org/dept/parks), the local visitors bureau (www.mountpleasantwow.com), press releases via Art Reach, local newspapers, radio stations, and Pure Michigan events.

4. Management

Isabella County Parks Staff take the lead in planning and presenting this program and they work closely with Art Reach of Mid Michigan, local businesses, and the Chippewa Watershed Conservancy. Planning includes Creation Station activities, professional artist selections, contacting of volunteers, promotions, and selection of organizations to contact for additional performances. The variety of organizations involved ensures that the event will reach a wide audience. The staff and volunteers for the event include Parks Staff, volunteers from Central Michigan University, community members, and local artists, all with an interest in the arts and in nature.

Demographics 7/14 Draft

Isabella County Parks and Recreation Commission serves the greater Isabella County community by providing natural spaces for recreation and education, as well as preservation of natural resources. Art From Our Parks, as an extension of the Parks and Recreation Department and therefore serves the community of Isabella County as a whole, providing the demographics outlined below the opportunity to experience art and nature together.

The racial composition of Isabella County and its communities is predominately white, with Native Americans comprising the largest minority group. In most Isabella County communities, however, only about 5% of the population consists of minority groups. Within Isabella County (population 75,000 est.), 3.4% of the population is Native American. The second group of minorities identifies themselves by two or more races at 2.8%. The third largest minority group, with nearly 2.4% of the population, is African American. Chippewa Township has the greatest minority population concentration in Isabella County, 20% of its total 2010 population. The presence of the Saginaw Chippewa Indian Tribe (population 1900 est.) in the community provides an obvious reason for this high concentration of Native American individuals in the township.

The U.S. Bureau of the Census reports the number of individuals with a disability, civilian and non-institutionalized persons by community. According to the 2010 Census, within Isabella County 5.6% (561) of those persons ages 16 to 64 were classified as having a mobility or self-care limitation. The percent of those individuals 65 years and over with a mobility or self-care limitation was slightly higher, however, comprising 9.1% of that age group, or 731 individuals. The greatest concentration of individuals with a disability in Isabella County is located in the greater Mt. Pleasant area. Not only is Mt. Pleasant the largest population center in the County, the City contains many of the needed services and organizations which can provide a quality living environment to individuals. A number of group homes are located in the community.

The population of Isabella County is young; 68% of the people within the County are under the age of 25. The median age of residents is only 25.1 years, as compared to 36.7 for the nation. The low median age of the residents of Isabella County is due almost entirely to the low median age of the residents of its largest population center, Mt. Pleasant, which has a median age of 22.0 years. The city is the location of both Central Michigan University and Mid Michigan Community College, therefore, the current home of many college students.

The 2010 Census indicated that in Isabella County females outnumbered males, though only slightly (51.3%). In Coe, Denver, Gilmore, Isabella, Lincoln, Sherman, Union, and Vernon Townships, and Mt. Pleasant, females outnumbered males.
